Five Small Children Get New Home

... At Cedars

Five children ranging in age from two to 10 have been removed by Lincoln police from the possession of their parents and placed in the Cedars Home.

Police woman Mrs. Hilda Stahnecker said the children were found sleeping Thursday afternoon on a concrete floor in the basement of their grandmother's home in Belmont.

The children had spent Wednesday night, a Sunday morning and a Sunday afternoon in a car with their mother.

The case has been referred to juvenile court. The children, said Mrs. Stahnecker, will remain at the home until their case is determined by the court.

The children's parents had been sought last week by police for child neglect. The children were ill kept and in filthy, loose fitting clothes.

Their first experience at Cedars was a hot bath.

'Hopes Bright,' Nation Is Told

Message, On First Peaceful Yule Eve In 4 Years, Beamed Overseas In 34 Tongues

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Dwight D. Eisenhower's message to the people on Christmas Eve was a message of peace and hope.

The President's message was broadcast in 34 languages, including English, French, German, Italian, Spanish, and Russian.

Despite the cold, several hundred distinguished guests waited for more than an hour to watch the President's message.

The President's message was a message of peace and hope, and it was received with great interest and enthusiasm by the people of the world.

As the President spoke the words of "Greetings from our house to your house," the myriad red and blue lights of the living tree came on at 5:20 p.m. (EST), and Eisenhower said:

"A merry Christmas and a very happy New Year."

Then, after the playing of the National Anthem, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower, looking a little chilly, made the short drive back to the White House for their own family Christmas Eve.

Before the tree-lighting ceremony, the President had spoken of his desire for peace and declared: "Our hopes are bright— even though the world still stands divided in two antagonistic parts."

Addressing the nation via coast-to-coast radio and television networks, the President sounded a year-end note of thanksgiving and optimism as he reminded his listeners that Friday will mark America's first peaceful Christmas in four years.

"For us, this Christmas is truly a season of good will," he said. "Our national and individual blessings are manifold."

"And on this Christmas Eve, all hearts in America are filled with special thanks to God that the blood of those we love no longer spills on battlefields abroad."

"May He receive the thanks of each of us for this. His greatest bounty—and our supplication that peace on earth may live with us, always."

Living Yule Tree

The President's first Christmas message to the nation was broadcast from the White House just before the annual ceremony of lighting the tree. It is a 35-foot living spruce bedecked with 1,700 sparkling ornaments and 1,000 red and green lights, on the south lawn of the executive mansion.

In addition to the radio-TV networks, the "Voice of Amer-

164 Estimated Dead In New Zealand Crash

Express Train Carrying 267 Plows Into Mountain Gorge

RUAKLUND, N.Z. (Friday) (AP) — An express train crashed on Christmas Eve into a mountain gorge and New Zealand's Prime Minister Sydney Holland estimated today 164 out of 267 passengers aboard were killed.

The first official estimate came in the early afternoon in a broadcast from the scene by Holland more than 12 hours after the accident. Previous unofficial estimates from the remote area had placed the dead at probably more than 100.

The speeding train crashed where a bridge had been either washed away or weakened to the breaking point by a cloudburst.

Queen Elizabeth II, whom many of the passengers had hoped to see on her current visit here, expressed her distress and sent a blanket message of sympathy to bereaved relatives.

The train was wrecked on a remote stretch of a volcanic mountainside and rescue efforts were extremely difficult.

Hours after the wreck, police and servicemen who had been rushed to the scene were unable to provide a casualty list.

The New Zealand Press Association feared at least 100 of the missing died in the wreck although some passengers were known to have escaped and were being tended by nearby residents.

A noon-time Christmas Day, 20 bodies were reported recovered, three dozen injured were receiving hospital treatment and the remaining scores were reported missing.

First reports said the accident occurred early Christmas morning but later it was learned the train crashed into the abyss at 10:20 p.m. last night.

The locomotive and five cars of the nine-car Wellington-Auckland overnight train plunged into a mountain stream and the sixth coach was left hanging on a buttress of the bridge.

The scene was at the Wangahu River, 150 miles north of Wellington. A cloudburst had turned the river from its normal trickle into a raging torrent. Reports from the scene said the river rose 25 feet within minutes.

Authorities said it had not been established whether the river swept the bridge away or weakened it to the extent of collapsing with the train.

The train dropped 20 feet. One crash was carried 2 1/2 miles downstream and two bodies were found three miles beyond it.

The wreck occurred on the slopes of 2,200-foot high Mt. Ruapehu, an active volcano 250 miles south of Auckland.

Prescription Given By Long-Distance Phone, Emergency Flight Home, Save 16-Day-Old Baby

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

A Lincoln physician's prescription by long distance telephone and a chartered plane Thursday saved the life of 16-day-old tiny Larry Forgy Thursday.

The baby battled a 106.4 degree temperature and had been reported in "terrible condition" by a physician after being struck with an infectious virus.

The baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Forgy of 4200 O Street became sick while the family was motoring to Norton, Kan., Thursday to spend Christmas with Larry's grandparents.

Immediately upon reaching Norton the Forgy's rushed the baby to a doctor without stopping to see their parents.

The doctor advised the worried parents that their baby was in such serious condition that he should be taken to Lincoln or Denver for treatment.

Phoned Lincoln

Desperate to know what to do, the Forgy's telephoned long distance to their Lincoln physician.

They asked him if the baby could be flown back to Lincoln. The doctor advised them to have Larry immediately placed under oxygen for the return trip.

The Forgy's located a private plane in a nearby town after a hurried search by telephone.

Picking up the sick baby and his mother at Norton about 4:30 p.m. Thursday, the plane flew directly to Lincoln in two hours. The baby was under oxygen all of the way.

The weary mother told nurses she had slept only two hours for the last two nights because of the baby's fussing. She said her husband, who had remained in Norton, would probably return by plane or car. Because of the Christmas Eve emergency, Mrs. Forgy did not get to see her

Dock Strike Ban Lifts; No Strife

ILA Holds Slender Margin In Vote Result

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal no-strike injunction expired Thursday but New York's uneasy waterfront marked its passing without strife. A holiday hush hung over the 350 miles of piers.

A midnight strike deadline along the East Coast was extended at least 10 days by the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), which still holds bargaining rights on the docks—although by a surprisingly slender margin.

A two-day National Labor Relations Board bargaining election left ILA temporarily victorious over a rival AFL union—but with the final outcome depending on 4,405 challenged ballots.

Many Protests

Even though the results was still in doubt, AFL President George Meany protested the election and said in a statement:

"The election was conducted under circumstances of intimidation and violence by known criminals to a degree without precedent in a representation election.

"We are, therefore, protesting this election.

"We do not accept the tally as indicating the true and free choice of the longshoremen, many of whom were forced to vote under threats and actual personal assault. We still feel that under fair conditions there isn't any doubt how the longshoremen would vote.

"This was an election forced on the AFL by the NLRB under the worst possible atmosphere and at a time most favorable to the hoodlums and their allies...."

With the backing of John L. Lewis, officials of the old ILA had predicted victory by a 5 to 1 margin or better.

Instead, its slender 1,492-vote lead over the new AFL dock union conceivably could be wiped out by the challenged ballots.

Have A Merry Christmas—But Drive Carefully

Today is Christmas, when the spirit of good will is the most important thing on earth.

Give your neighbor a chance to live through the holidays by driving carefully. This, according to Lincoln Police and the County and Safety Patrol officials, is the most important thought for making the year's end a merry one and not a tragic one.

Burned Child Spends Christmas Eve In Hospital

Moscow Beams
Peace, Good Will Toward USA

LONDON (Friday) (AP)—Moscow Radio today beamed peace and good will toward the United States. A broadcast in English by one of Moscow's top radio commentators, Timofeyev, said the new year offers the "prospect of mutual faith and friendship" between the peoples of the United States and the Soviet Union.

He mentioned President Eisenhower's proposal for a United Nations pool of atomic energy and Russia's statement expressing readiness to participate in secret talks on the plan.

"The coming year of 1954 offers wonderful prospects for which mankind is yearning, the prospect of stable and lasting peace, the prospect of mutual faith and friendship between the peoples, including the peoples of the U.S.A. and the Soviet Union. May the new year of 1954 serve to strengthen co-operation between the peoples of the U.S.A. and the Soviet Union in their joint efforts against the threat of war and for the preservation and promotion of peace."

Statesmen Paint Greeting

LONDON (INS)—Christmas cards sent to 500 friends by Sir Winston and Lady Churchill bear reproductions of a painting of magnolias by the British prime minister. News Around The Globe

No Desertion Charges Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 22 American prisoners who have refused to come home from Korea are not likely to be charged with treason, declared to be deserters or otherwise read out of the American family, unless current official thinking here is changed.

In expressing this line of thought, the Defense Department's top legal and policy making officials concede that they do not see completely eye to eye with certain Army officers. The latter have advocated throwing the book of military law at the 22 who are spending Christmas in the custody of the Neutral Repatriation Commission in Korea's no-man's-land.

Some Army officers have suggested that the 22 Americans should be declared absent without leave when the explainer sessions terminated Wednesday and later dropped from the rolls as deserters. But higher Army officials and Defense Department officers said the cease-fire terms virtually prohibited any such strictly military action.

Vicksburg Happy

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—Storm-scarred Vicksburg met Santa Claus more than halfway Thursday night to see the 3,500 children, many of them victims of the Dec. 5 tornado, have the best possible Christmas.

Hundreds gathered around a towering community tree in the heart of the storm area, first to give thanks to God and then to gladden the hearts of their young ones with a mountain of toys.

The toys came from unseen friends across the nation who donated them to make certain that no disaster would darken the Christmas for the children.

Chocolate, Joe?

WASHINGTON (INS)—The generosity of American servicemen will be felt around the world on Christmas Day.

As usual, underprivileged children will be the recipients of presents, sweets and in many cases, clothing.

In Korea GI's plan to give more practical gifts than after-dinner mints and toys.

Some of the items to be handed out to needy Koreans are sewing machines for orphanages, bolts of cloth, carpenter's tools, first aid kits, shoe repair outfits, fuel, cooking utensils and other necessities found in every American household.

Two Airmen Are Lost Over Japan

TOKYO (Friday) (AP)—Two American airmen from Korea disappeared over Japan in their T33 jet last night after they apparently had overshot Tokyo and ran out of fuel.

An air-sea search was started at dawn.

The Shooting Star type trainer flew from an airbase near Seoul to a base in southwestern Japan, then took off for Tokyo.

The Far East Air Forces said the plane was spotted off course by Tokyo radar and an F94 Spitfire with radar was sent aloft at 6:40 a.m. to guide it in.

But the T33 crew radioed the plane had a flameout. It turned south and was lost to radar, suggesting the pilot might have attempted a ditching over water.

UNITY URGED BY POPE PIUS

... To Bring Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII Thursday urged European unity as a means of preserving peace on earth. In his 15th annual Christmas message, he said:

"Why continue to hesitate? The end is clear; the needs of the nations are obvious to all."

The 77-year-old spiritual leader of more than 400 million Roman Catholics said European nations, through unity, could overcome the division caused by a discrepancy in standards of living and productivity.

He conceded that risk is involved, but said it was "a necessary risk... to demand absolute certainty is to fail in good will toward Europe."

Some Men Blinded

Vatican circles, recalling the pope's previous support of unification, expressed belief that his words Thursday went beyond approval of a mere military alliance such as the projected six-nation European Defense Community.

The pope urged men to look again toward the "brilliantly luminous cradle of the new-born Savior."

He criticized the worship of technological progress, which, he said, has blinded some men to God's work and to religion.

The pope repeated, as he has in all his Christmas messages, an urgent appeal for peace. Materialistic means, he said, will never bring this.

The pope warned the world not to put its trust for peace in "costly distribution of technical and economical forces more or less equally divided between two parties."

This appeared to be as much a criticism of the Western world as of the Communist-dominated East.

This road, said the pope, could produce "a peace based on fear, not that peace which is security for the future."

Pro-Red PW's Mother Is Glad She Made Trip

ALDEN, Minn. (AP) Mrs. Martha Howe came home Christmas Eve to her southern Minnesota farm—7,000 miles from where she made a dramatic but futile attempt to win her soldier son home from the Communists.

While her son, Pfc. Richard H. Tenneson defiantly celebrated a strange Korean Yuletide behind the barbed wire of his prisoner-of-war compound, Mrs. Howe gathered the rest of her family about their Christmas tree with a sort of peaceful resignation, knowing she had "done all she could."

Against advice of civilian and military authorities, the greying 43-year-old mother flew to the Far East Dec. 9 to try to rid her son of the "Communist poison" with 10 minutes of common sense.

She got as far as Japan, where the United Nations command forbade her to go to Korea.

Relieved and Composed

A written appeal to Tenneson to come home was answered by a bitter "I have made up my mind and I am not going."

While she came home empty-handed, Mrs. Howe said she was glad she made the trip—that she never would have rested until she had gone.

Tired, but obviously relieved and composed, Mrs. Howe walked past a flock of loudly quacking ducks and into the arms of her family and other relatives who were waiting on the porch of the square, white house about a mile from Alden, a village of 668.

"We're proud of you," her mother, Mrs. John W. Jensen, said.

"Hi, Ma," her 10-year-old daughter, Jan, shouted.

Of this she is certain: She is through trying to reach her son with letters pleading with him to come home.

"He has made his decision. It's a bad one, but he's stuck with it," she said.

If he ever wants or can change his mind and come home, Mrs. Howe said she will be happy to receive him.

Mom Comes Here From Lexington

A 13-year-old boy from San Francisco was in his mother's arms the day before Christmas after he became lost in Lincoln just 20 hours earlier.

The boy, Donald Delbert Dunham, arrived in Lincoln by bus at 2 p.m. Wednesday from his home in California. Expecting to be met by his mother, Mrs. William J. McKibbin, the boy waited in the station for five hours before he tearfully sought the aid of a station attendant to help him find his mother.

Called Police

The attendant called the police who placed the boy in the Cedars Home and began the search for the missing parents. Through press and radio reports, a Lexington woman visiting in Lincoln learned of the boy's plight.

The woman told Lincoln police she knew of a Mr. and Mrs. William J. McKibbin who lived in Lexington. By 10 a.m. Thursday, the McKibbins were on their way to Lincoln.

When his mother arrived in Lincoln, Donald explained that he thought she had told him to go to Lincoln. Donald had wired his mother of his arrival there but had sent the wire to the Lincoln Western Union office where it was never picked up.

"We told Donald to wire if he was coming," said Mrs. McKibbin, "and just not to wire if he wasn't coming. Even though we didn't get a wire I kept thinking that Donald was on the way and was afraid that something wrong had happened."

Expressed Thanks

The McKibbins expressed their thanks again and again to all those who took part in straightening out the mistake.

"If you ever get lost again," said Donald's stepfather, "be sure to do it in Lincoln."

A host of phone calls was made to the Cedars Home and Lincoln police throughout the day Thursday from families wanting to have Donald spend Christmas day with them.

MIDNIGHT MASS IN KOREA SAID BY SPELLMAN

NINTH CORPS HEADQUARTERS, KOREA (Friday)—Francis Cardinal Spellman celebrated his third Christmas midnight mass in Korea today.

The crowd of parka-clad soldiers began filling the chapel more than three hours in advance. The quonset hut chapel had been enlarged for the occasion.

The Archbishop of New York and military vicar for Catholics in the Armed Forces spoke to about 10,000 soldiers in the course of a strenuous day preceding Christmas Eve.

The Cardinal visited 10 United States units and the Colombian battalion.

At his midnight mass, the Cardinal said, "Korea has known its Calvary, when it was crucified on the cross of war, a cross of aggression."

"In God's good time, we pray that Korea will see the resurrection of Christ, the image of itself, sanctified by its sufferings and glorified with the blessings of unification and independence and of lasting peace and plenty."

"The soldier who joined up with Christ in the mass as Christ's soldier. By the power of Christ, the Prince of Peace, the soldier of Christ will continue to help change the warring world into a warless world, where Christ is Lord and his reign is peace."

The Cardinal will hold Christmas Day mass at the U.S. 3rd Division.

Canary In Cage Brings Christmas Cheer

Trumans To Have Leisurely Holiday

INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—Christmas will be a leisurely unhurried observance for the first time in eight years at the Harry Truman residence.

While the former President was in the White House, the family flew here for Christmas at home, but it was attended by such things as many appointments, official business and the restrictions of the secret service.

"This is one Christmas we're really going to enjoy," was the way Mrs. Truman expressed it.

The former President showed office affairs off Thursday and gave the help the day off.

In the living room of the home is a big tree where Mr. and Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, will gather in the morning for the opening of presents. Later there will be Christmas dinner, turkey with all the trimmings.

Lana, Lex Barker Remarried In L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Film players Lana Turner and Lex Barker married in Turin, Italy, last September, and their "wedding" again Thursday in a ceremony at the couple's home.

They announced through their studio that the remarriage was "because of a desire to wed in the presence of family and friends."

Judge Henry H. Draeger performed the ceremony. Among those present were Miss Turner's mother, Mrs. Mildred Turner, her daughter by a previous marriage, Cheryl, and her attorney, Nat Willis.

The pair obtained a license earlier Thursday in nearby Santa Monica.

The pair's Turin marriage was a civil ceremony at the town's city hall.

Treasury Acts To Head Off Flow Of Dollars To China

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury Department closed Thursday that it might have seized more than $85,000 in a drive to prevent Chinese currency from leaving U.S. territory to their relatives in Red China.

The Foreign Assets Control Law, adopted by Congress in 1950 prohibits U.S. citizens from sending American dollars to Communist China and other free Communist countries.

Nebraska's Christmas Stocking

When Nebraskans awaken this Christmas morning to find what Santa Claus left in their stockings, here are a few of the things which we trust old St. Nick has not overlooked:

For Cornhusker football fans — A better season in 1954 than the one which came to a close November of 1953. We trust Santa Claus has left a stout line and some fleet-footed ball carriers.

For the Nebraska farmer and his family — If Secretary Benson, subbing for Santa Claus, unexpectedly should start stocking with a continuing farm commodity price support program at 90 per cent of parity, joy would be unrestrained. And if Mr. Benson desires to add a special touch to the festive day he will lack less along the lines that he has been following in order to follow a more familiar and satisfactory line.

For the rural electrification districts — A card from Secretary of Interior McKay, saying that his new, shiny power policy was hauled out only in the spirit of fun and he didn't mean it in the first place.

For the American people, one and all — A Christmas card from Russia's Malenkov telling that he had decided to quit the role of the world's "bad boy."

Role Of A Free Press

One phase of the Beria affair furnishes a reminder that faith in government itself rests upon the foundations of an integrity of the news.

The Associated Press report said that the Soviet Union had closed the books on Beria. The government announced that the longtime boss of Russia's secret police and six of his henchmen were shot by a firing squad after a secret five-day trial. The Soviet supreme court found them guilty of high treason.

Simultaneously a foreign correspondent provided this view:

"Moscow's account of how Lavrenty Beria was tried and executed is full of gaps and contradictions. It is not even clear whether the former deputy premier and security police chief and his six 'accomplices' were present or were not present at their trial. French experts on Soviet affairs consider it highly likely that Beria was shot immediately after his arrest last July. . . it would surprise nobody if it develops in the course of time that neither he nor any of the others whose execution is now announced were ever even interrogated."

There is a frightfully sobering thought at a season of the year when America's festive spirits are turned in another direction.

Nothing of this character could happen in America, thanks to the fact that American newspapers do enjoy freedom of the press.

Here it simply would be out of the realm of possibility.

And a fervent hope that nothing shall happen which would in any way provide a basis for the curious speculation which follows Moscow's announcement closing the books on Beria.

We speak of a "free press." Unless applied to specific incidents there is a danger of the words holding no greater significance than a catch phrase. But a "free press" does have a relationship, and a very direct one, to human beings. It is their protection against tyranny of any character. It is one of the real safeguards of what sometimes is nebulously described as freedom. Integrity of the news is the goal of every newspaper.

Of Men And Things

This is Christmas morning of the year of our Lord, 1953. To one and all, a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. This special day brings to the enchanted family circle its dear ones, gathered from far and near.

Christmas, with its bustling crowds, its bright-eyed children, its carols, its tinsel-decorated trees, its welling spirit of good-will, is a reverential day, a day of deep humility, of joy and happiness. Each individual American in a nation of nearly 160 million men, women and children surely will set aside some portion of this day to think of others, near and far away, and in so doing briefly grasp that nobility of spirit which illuminates this time hallowed. The family gathers around the table. It is good to be together again. The food is appetizing, the conversation woven with a thread of tenderness, the heart understanding, and the spirit exalted. That, in the truest sense is the good Christmas miracle. One looks toward the skies. What is it that he hears? He turns on ear, the better to hear an angelic song of the angels: "Peace on earth, good-will toward men." There is more. For on this day is born a saviour, the Babe in the manger, a Babe who grew to manhood who died on the cross that those who follow Him might have life everlasting.

We like Christmas. We treasure its spirit. It is a season of gentleness. The impatient word goes unspoken, the unkind act dies before it takes place. There is something about Christmas that brings to human beings everywhere a new sense of decency. That is why man acquires a new dignity and purpose during those rushing hours which point to the end of one year shortly, and the beginning of another. Then, if ever, man seems to acquire his full stature.

It would be a pity to let this season of peace and goodwill pass without a thought for those who are less fortunate than we. There is a way to help them. It is to give them a gift. A gift of love, a gift of hope, a gift of faith. A gift that will bring them a new sense of dignity and purpose. A gift that will bring them a new sense of life.

Across This Broad Land

It is a time when we should know loneliness is not a part of this day.

Night closes in, but there is no night in this season of Christmas. The lights flash on to convey a story of life eternal, and life everlasting. So it is a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to the legions of this world of ours.

may not satisfy every reader on all occasions but every newspaper reader should recognize within the working quarters of a newspaper the daily struggle is to contribute in the fullest sense possible an unquestionable integrity to the news.

When a man pays the extreme penalty in the United States, the people know. There is no basis for speculation.

But in Russia what really happens to the individual, and when it happens, leaves doubts and uncertainties.

A "free press" conscientiously fulfilling its responsibilities does have a role in the lives of an intelligent, free people.

The NAM Speaks

The National Association of Manufacturers is asking the government to end all subsidies to business except those connected with providing for national defense. It considers subsidies inimical to free enterprise. Such a position will attract a chorus of amens from those whose understanding of political economy is based on wistful generalities.

Subsidy has become a bad word and its use now-a-days bowls over anything done in its name. But when wisely used it is a great and constructive force and if one looks carefully into the nation's history it becomes apparent that without it we probably would not have been much of a nation. Certainly our industry wouldn't have amounted to much without the indirect subsidy of the tariff, the railroads wouldn't have got far without public aid and it is hard to imagine what the Middle West would be like today had it not been for the Homestead act. In fact the very NAM which criticizes subsidies wouldn't be here if it had not been for them.

No one wants foolish and wasteful subsidies, but everyone wants the national economy protected against anarchy and certainly everyone wishes progress and growth. And to get these things which can't pay off until after they have been realized someone has to put up some risk capital. When the results rebound to the principal benefit of the public it is not improper for the public to venture the investment although one has to call it a subsidy.

Forgotten Judges

On one of the few quiet streets of Washington a hearing has been going on that failed to make the headlines, albeit it was an important one. It was a special commission considering salary increases for federal judges.

By virtue of their calling judges are required to live a withdrawn life. They are not represented by aggressive lobbies nor do they spend their time striving for material gains. The result has been that they have become the forgotten men in a legislative center where push pays off. Their salaries have ceased to be commensurate with the importance of their work and frequently they are insufficient to meet the present day requirements of proper living.

There is a connotation of national thoughtlessness in this condition. In a country whose guarantees of liberty and justice are based upon the law, judges are important citizens. Nothing could do greater harm to our institutions than a judicial bench made vacant or starved of talent by our own failure to make adequate provisions for the good occupant. There shouldn't be much debate over the current question of judicial pay. It should only be an appraisal of the value of the federal judiciary leading to a decision of what is required to continue the quality of one of our most precious institutions.

Un-Best Dressed Man

Dr. Albert Einstein, America's most honored man, maintained his national prominence by appearing at a fashionable New York wedding in a borrowed overcoat 20 years old, and a blouse dating back. Most of us would admire a man who goes around dressed as he pleases, but we shun the gaze of a well-dressed man because we have to be different to be different and that demands that we look like him.

Pearson Lists His Citizenship Awards

WASHINGTON—Yesterday I took advantage of tolerant editors to stray from ordinary Washington reporting and talk instead about the world's discouraging drift away from the goal set for us by the man whose birthday we now celebrate.

Offsetting that pessimistic column, here is a more encouraging side of the picture.

While the world has become more strife-ridden, more disillusioned, more torn apart in the last two years, and while this inevitably leads us toward war, on the other hand, a great many patriotic people are bucking that drift with idealistic, self-sacrificing efforts to carry out the spirit of the sermon on the mount. Their efforts stand out against the rapids of discouragement which, if left to run its course, will almost certainly end in war.

They are in contrast to the people who get disillusioned with international agreements, bored with the debates of the United Nations, frustrated over the general idea that we can get along with other nations. They are people who are fighting for the cherished American right to think and talk freely, the right of the little fellow to have as much privilege as the big fellow.

No column or newspaper would be able to list all of them. But here is my Christmas list—a cross-section of some of the heroes of brotherhood, both in government and out of government, both big people and little people who have been working at the job of making Democracy Live:

CHRISTMAS LIST

Capt. Roger White of Monroe, La., who after two years in a Korean prison camp, gave $500 of his POW pay to Korean children, thereby starting a spontaneous outburst of similar contributions all over the nation.

Capt. Burt Cumby of Washington, D. C., a Negro who by his easygoing natural ability to put people at ease has become the Army's chief interviewer of Communist prisoners, and has won many thanks to Democracy.

August Dietz, Richmond, Va., printer who helped distribute about 2,000,000 copies of the Declaration of Independence and paid for much of it out of his own pocket; also the Sertoma clubs which helped him.

LT. Comdr. Leon Blair of Alexandria, Va., who defended Lt. Comdr. Jerry McDaniel of Guilford, Miss., when Navy brass hats tried to railroad him in connection with a Key West stag smoker.

Congressman Robert Kean of New Jersey, who has battled against two powerful colleagues, Congressman Curtis of Nebraska and Reed of New York, to save old-age pensions and social security.

Murray Marder of the Washington Post, who, when most newsmen ducked, stood up against unpopular trends and wrote the truth about the McCarthy investigation of alleged Fort Monmouth espionage. He showed in conclusive detail that McCarthy's spy charges were not based on fact.

Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson, who reversed the admirals to promote Capt. George Hyman, Rickover's developer of the atomic submarine, after Rickover had been passed over for promotion because of his religion.

Edward R. Murrow, CBS commentator, who led the fight for Lieut. Milo Radulovich, suspended from the Air Force because his relatives read Communist front newspapers.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, Methodist, for continuing the battle for religious freedom despite unfair congressional attempts to intimidate him.

Rev. A. Powell Davies, Unitarian, for his courageous and inspiring fight for tolerance and international cooperation.

Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, Episcopalian, and John A. Nagark, moderator of the Protestant Council, for helping to put those two faiths so vigorously on record against Fascistic fears and the creeping suppression of free speech.

The Late Father Emil Kapaun of Pilsen, Kan., who, taken prisoner in Korea, volunteered for hard-work details so other prisoners could be spared. His inspiring life caused a Jewish Marine, Capt. Jerry Fink of Chicago, and other non-Catholic prisoners to work almost a year carving out a stone crucifix for his grave.

Father Robert C. Hartnett and the editors of America, a Jesuit magazine, who have not hesitated to criticize McCarthy and McCarthyism despite the praise given him by Cardinal Spellman.

The National Council of Jewish Women for its consistent, courageous campaign against hysteria and for American freedoms.

The Lutheran Memorial Church of Wisconsin for collecting the amazing total of 483,173 pounds of clothing (18 boxes) for less fortunate friends in Korea, Yugoslavia, West Germany and the Near East.

The Saint Vincent De Paul Society for their painstaking day-and-night help to the poor and the needy.

Col. Richard T. Hernalund, commander of Thule air base in Greenland, who holds the toughest job in the air force but has done it well. Surrounded by acres of ice, he has kept the morale of his men high despite almost no facilities for recreation.

Charles Skouras, the national picture man, who has devoted so much time to helping his fellow men.

The Christian children's fund which faithfully cares for children in 114 orphanages in 25 countries, from Lapland to Borneo, and the Pilot Club International for its wonderful work in Korea, together with Rotary International and the Kiwanis Clubs for their fine work in helping exchange students between the United States and foreign countries.

William A. Roberts, Washington attorney who had the courage to buck the most powerful Senator on Capitol Hill as far as lawyers are concerned, and sue Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada on behalf of the Las Vegas Sun when he conspired to cut off its advertising after it criticized him. Roberts obtained an $80,000 settlement for the newspaper.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Orange, Va., for revitalizing the historic park where James Madison and John Leland carved out the first amendment to the constitution guaranteeing freedom of speech, freedom of religion and our other freedoms.

Congressman Blatnik of Minnesota for going to see Marshal Tito at his own expense to try to calm relations between Italy and Yugoslavia over Trieste.

And the nation's mailmen who not only handled the backlogs of Christmas mail but proved that the postman does ring twice by trucking from door to door to aid victims of muscular dystrophy.

Those are just a few of the people who make this country great and who are working to keep it great as part of the unending, sometimes discouraging task of winning the peace and making democracy live.

INSIDE THE PENTAGON

The National Security Council has concluded that the United States cannot afford to build the Europe Army up to Eisenhower's goal of 50 divisions. Reason: The budget can support only the present 20 divisions. . . . It has indicated he will go along with the Security Council and modify his goal. . . . The Air Force was ordered to cut down on the reserve officers on active duty as an economy measure. But so many reserve officers are so short-staffed and is trying to get 2,000 reserve officers back.

Nine Little Girls And One Stubborn Donkey

Ours is the worst house in Christendom to get lost in.

This is not a statement of affairs, because our house is not a well-kept house, but a sorry ordinary home in the middle of the town. The house is all over the place, and the house is all over the place.

The living room has become a theater. The reason is that our daughter, Merrilee, and her playmates are producing a show. They are also directing it, acting in it, selling tickets to it and handling advance publicity. So far, they're best at selling tickets.

"I've had to buy one from each of nine little girls, in order not to show favoritism."

The house is all over the place, and the house is all over the place.

The house is all over the place, and the house is all over the place.

The house is all over the place, and the house is all over the place.

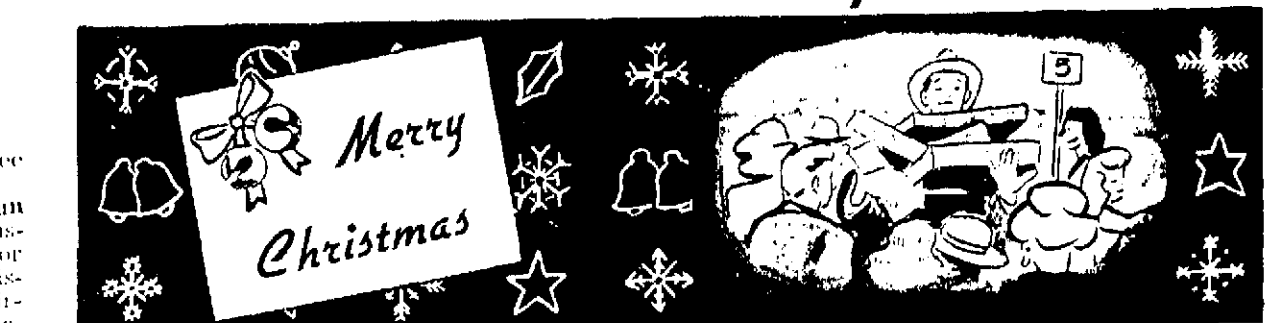

The house is all over the place, and the house is all over the place.

The house is all over the place, and the house is all over the place.

The house is all over the place, and the house is all over the place.

The house is all over the place, and the house is all over the place.

Pine Needles Poison Pretty Parakeets

Man, says the Holdrege Citizen, is a creature who buys football tickets three months in advance and waits until Christmas Eve to do his gift shopping.

There is the poetic aspect of the Christmas season. . . . The Mairs down at Walthill awoke one Sunday morning to find the countryside covered with new snow. As Mrs. Marr brushed it from the porch, she picked up some. "It lay on my fingers and palm like a handful of stars," she said. "I lay on my fingers and palm like a handful of stars," she said. "I lay on my fingers and palm like a handful of stars," she said.

The Fairbury Journal feels that "A durability prize should go to the pocketbook which survives Christmas, personal property taxes, auto license fees and fuel bills."

A Fullerton merchant, reported W. H. Plourd, was still recovering from an experience which left him a little dazed. "A lady came in to meek a box in which to mail a Christmas present she had bought out of town instead of in his store."

"Don't be such a sour pickle about letting Junior and Suzie write those letters to Santa Claus," pleads "Blumie Boomer" of Geneva mothers and fathers. "The Nebraska Signal column" realizes it puts the parents somewhat on the spot when the youthful epistles are published, "but you'd probably have to get these things anyway."

Terry Pallas of Ashland got started on his want list to the good St. Nick, and couldn't seem to get stopped again. "I want a cowboy shirt and tie, a chalk board and some chalk, an electric train, a space suit, a two-gun holster set, cowboy gloves, spurs, a rifle, target set, bow and arrow, a golf set, a pool table, football and helmet." He leaves himself a loophole, however, in closing with, "Well, that is all for now. Good-bye."

And then, of course, there is the entire side to the day. . . . Someone asked little Marilyn Moser of Hesper, which part of the bird would be her choice and she responded with, "The trampoline." . . . Mrs. LeRoy Ahndt of Scribner called on her own ingenuity when, cooking-decorating time came around and she had no colored sugar. She just sprinkled the pastry with dry gelatin, and her family like it fine. . . . Stu Bohacek of the Wilber Republican waded through a page and a half in the National Geographic Magazine devoted to the qualities of geese. Historic instance after historic instance was cited of the birds' ability as sentries, but Editor Bohacek was not too interested. "I still say geese are silly. I'll have mice roasted any day, and get a bull dog to be my sentry." . . . Ed Herman who raises parakeets in Wymore had a word of caution for bird owners. Keep the little feathered flitters away from Christmas trees, advises Mr. Herman. The birds have a taste for pine needles, which are poison to them with usually fatal results.

Christmas Day

Lincoln, Neb.

When festive lights are gleaming, In the church and homes below, As we chant the Christmas carols, And the children's faces glow,

The Christmas spirit radiates, Leads back to Bethlehem, And once again the star of hope, Brings peace to all good men.

For this the early Christians died, And counted not a loss, The life they gave so willingly, For their Christ upon the cross.

So mid the festive hours, As the children romp and play, Tell them the old old story, Of who this Christmas day.

John T. Peck

Difference In Thinking

Hastings, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Rep. Curtis' summary of the difference in assistance payments between Colorado and Nebraska reveals the difference in humanitarian thinking. He tells us Nebraska has 137,000 old folks above the age of 65 while Colorado has 122,000. Of this number 21,000 draw old-age assistance in Nebraska which is a ratio of one out of every 6 1/2. The ratio in Colorado is one out of every 2 1/2, there being 46,000 on the assistance rolls there. That is the difference in charitable consideration between the two states.

With a grant of $17 million by the federal government to Colorado and only $7 million in Nebraska it is evident that the economy of Colorado is being helped $10 million over and above Nebraska. There we see the stabilizer in a state's economy.

Through federal taxes Nebraskans are paying it can be seen that Nebraska is helping to build Colorado's economy far faster than her own. But, of course, Nebraska governors and congressmen find these economic facts too great for them to understand.

Auto License Fees

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I would like to hear from you about the new license fees. I have heard that the new license fees are going to be $10.00 for a new license and $5.00 for a renewal license. I have heard that the new license fees are going to be $10.00 for a new license and $5.00 for a renewal license. I have heard that the new license fees are going to be $10.00 for a new license and $5.00 for a renewal license.

EDGAR A. GUEST

AFTER DEFEAT

He did his best from day to day And though he blundered now and then, Which is the common fate of men, From life he never turned away.

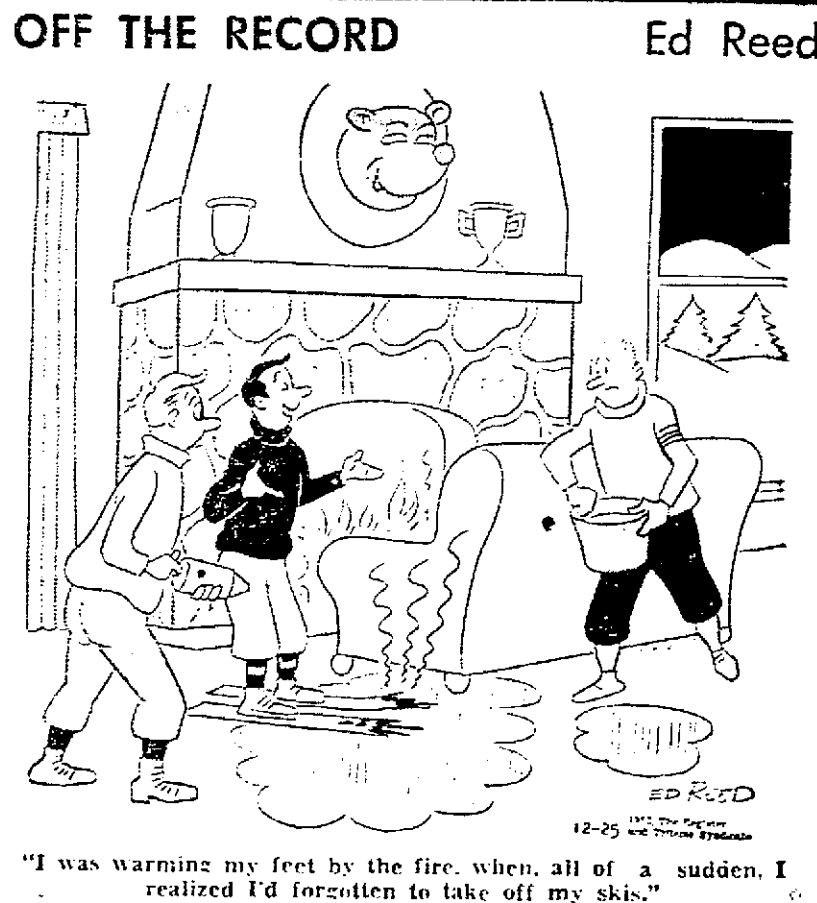

From day to day he did his best But knew the reasons why he failed, And when defeated never wailed, Or let regret disturb his rest.

He'd say: "I do the best I can, But when that's not enough to win, I've no excuse when I come in. The victor was the better man."

SILVER CUPS AND WIVES

The winner took the trophy home— A cup of silver hue. With shaking head, his good wife said: "More work for me to do."

"Eight silver cups are on the shelf, And this will make it nine. That's quite a few each week or two, For me to sit and shine."

"I was warming my feet by the fire, when, all of a sudden, I realized I'd forgotten to take off my skis."

Allied Troops Keep A Lonely, Alert Vigil On Peaceful Korean Front

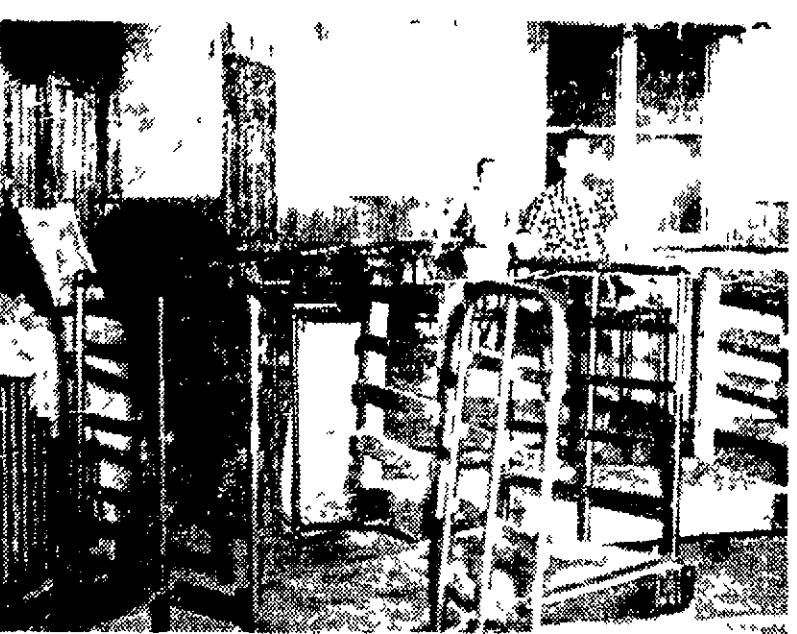

By FORREST EDWARDS
WESTERN FRONT, Korea (Friday) (AP)—Five men prowled the barbed wire in front of an allied outpost—five of the thousands of allied troops who kept a lonely, alert and nervous vigil through the first peaceful Christmas Eve in Korea in four years.
A year ago the patrol would have had 12 to 20 men. Some might have come back on stretchers, or not at all.
On the ridge line, just behind the barbed wire, three more men trained their eyes on the hills and valleys of the demilitarized zone that separates the allied and Communist armies.
A year ago they would have been harassed by Red mortars and artillery. They would have been directing their own heavy guns in return bombardments.

Now You See 'Em, Now You Don't—Christmas At The Post Office

Veine Grunewald (left) and Benjamin Deines struggle mightily to work their way to the bottom and get the mail on its way in time. At the successful conclusion of their battle with parcels, and the Lincoln Post office's struggle with the record volume of mail, Grunewald and Ed Burdick

Post Office's Santa Helpers End Big Job; Skeleton Crew Remains

Skeleton crews at the Lincoln Post Office will deliver Christmas packages and special delivery mail on Christmas Day and make regular holiday mail collections as most Volchik-wary mailmen spend Christmas with their families.
Parcel post volume slightly under the 1952 Christmas season but first and other classes of mail soon headed for an all-time record.
Incoming parcel post during the first 23 days of December is 138 per cent under a year ago, but outgoing regained some lost ground and is only 71 per cent under the same period for 1952.
Superintendent of Mails Gerald Jones, pleased with a job well done by all, commented that the 1952 season "was perhaps the smoothest on record" and that "good weather and the co-operation of post office visitors had helped the peaks of the Christmas mail volume."

Accumulative figures in pounds of mail to December 23 as compared with the 1952 period are:

Jefferson School Improvements Are Far-Reaching

Reorganization Cuts Down Number Of Districts By 29

FAIRBURY, Neb. — (Lincoln Star Special)—In the midst of a long-range and far-reaching campaign to improve rural educational facilities in Jefferson County, officials look with considerable pride on progress made so far.

The campaign, as outlined by G. T. Boone, county superintendent, includes reorganization of school districts, improvement of the rural school facilities, standardization of textbooks and raising of teacher standards.

Although Boone acknowledges that progress has been slow in reorganization of districts, he is still "very proud" of the program. In 1949 there were 99 school districts in Jefferson County. Today there are 70. The first two districts to merge were dist. 33 and dist. 51. The next two to merge were district, 53 and 101.

The cost of operating the schools in the county in 1952, not including Fairbury, was $279,449. The cost of operating the schools in the 1953-54 term is estimated at $232,550 a saving of $46,899.

Since the initial mergers, others have taken place, notably at Daykin and at Reynolds which Boone uses as an example of the results of reorganization. Reynolds, a Class II school, has added many improvements in the last year. These include new concrete steps, and landings to do away with the old mud-laden entrance.

Re-decoration of the school has given it a pleasant two-tone green exterior. There are new desks and venetian blinds together with library facilities and science department equipment. A new shop program has been set up and a new athletic field has been leveled and seeded to grass. These improvements have been brought about and taxes have been reduced by half in one year through reorganization of three school districts. The mill levy was 28.02 last year. In 1953 it was cut to 14.68 mills.

Daykin has also undergone considerable improvement with a corresponding reduction in taxes. The mill levy there has dropped from 19.4 mills to 11.68 mills this year. In setting up the reorganization program here the superintendent and one member of the school board visited every family in each prospective district.

In the eastern section of the county parents and school officials are working toward setting up a Class I district and a Class VI rural high school district which would include possibly three or four districts in Gage County as well as eight or 10 districts in Jefferson County. Although he did not reveal the progress of this campaign, Boone said "We understand they are

V. Krikac Jr., Dies, Comstock Banker

COMSTOCK, Neb. — Vencil Krikac Jr., 61, prominent Comstock banker and former mayor, died Thursday at his home. He had suffered from a heart ailment since October.

A life-long resident of Comstock, he recently resigned the post of mayor.

Survivors include his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Marilyn Laird, Auburn; a brother, Edward Krikac, Comstock; and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Gepton, Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Rose Ward, Kearney.

Funeral services are scheduled for Monday with burial at Ord.

State Institution Operation Cost Low, Diers Says

Nebraska is getting a good bargain in the operation of its 19 institutions, Chairman W. H. Diers of the Board of Control said Thursday.

He pointed out that the 8,600 persons in the institutions are being housed, clothed, fed and given medical treatment for an average of $30 per month each.

He explained that this cost is the average given only $7 a year or less than the state tax a pack-day cigarette smoker pays or the cost of an automobile license and driver's license.

The total cost of operating the institutions is $15,500,000 of which only $9,128,000 comes from the state general fund, collected from property taxes.

Reorganization Advances, And More Is Planned

SALEM—Paul Hirschbach was elected president of the Salem Local Farmers Union 1017, at the group's annual meeting. George Paulsen of Dakota City was elected vice president and J. C. Higgins, South Sioux City, secretary-treasurer. Harry M. Greene of South Sioux City was named official delegate to the state Farmers Union meeting to be held in Omaha in February.

Falls City Plans Revenue Refunds

FALLS CITY, Neb. — City officials have announced a tentative plan to refund $250,000 in revenue bonds against the city-owned water and light plant.

This indicates that the original issue of $510,000 in revenue bonds, set up to be paid off in 18 years, has been more than half retired in only five years.

At the time of the refunding, the city will make the regular $30,000 annual payment and pay another $140,000 on the principal.

The $140,000 to be paid is a surplus accumulated out of the earnings of the water and light department without the use of any tax money and without any raise in the water and light rates.

The original $510,000 bond issue was made in 1949 to cover the cost of a new diesel-generator and the unpaid balance on the purchase of the municipal pipeline and water-producing system near Rufo.

Won't Go That Fast

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP)—Marvin Nelson, 44, was arrested by a state patrolman charged with traveling 50 miles an hour in a speed zone. Nelson protested his old model car couldn't go that fast.

Detect. Atty. James D'Amato asked patrolmen to check the car. They reported its top speed was 40 miles an hour. The case against Nelson was dismissed.

AURORA—The 19 children who attend the Maple Grove school presented a musical Christmas program which included both popular and sacred Christmas songs, acted out, as well as band numbers.

Mrs. Pam Allen, teaching at Maple Grove for the first time this year, has emphasized vocal and instrumental music at the school because, Mrs. Allen said, the students had had so little musical training that nearly all of them were monotones.

FREMONT—The Dodge County Board of Supervisors has awarded a $12,330 contract to Stalp Brothers of West Point for grading, surface graveling, culverts and guard rails for about one mile of road from south of Hoover over a new bridge being built on the Elk-born River. The project, to be financed half and half with county and federal secondary road aid funds, is to be finished in 40 working days after work is begun on it April 15.

HOLDREGE — Good harvest weather during the week was expected to enable sugar beet farmers in the Tri-County area to salvage additional acres of the unharvested crop. Lowell Gaudque of the Great Western Sugar Company said last week and about 200 acres of beets remained in the fields and the harvest had "slowed to a snail's pace."

Dumps in the area had remained open the past few weeks, but deliveries were high because of wet or frozen field conditions.

COZAD — In a reorganization board meeting Cozad Chamber of Commerce directors elected Roger Menke president, Wayne

Hoffman vice president and F. W. Hunt treasurer. Louis Bessemer was re-appointed secretary-manager. Other members of the new board are Frank Miller, Lloyd Widdifield, Kenneth Murhead and Neil Young.

MILFORD—Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stauffer, both Seneca County residents all their lives, observed their golden wedding anniversary at their farm home west of Milford where they lived the past 48 years.

WOOD RIVER—Julie Williams, 12, has nearly 100 dolls of a kind in a collection begun by her grandmother and carried on by her mother. Contracts Awarded For Highway 50 Relocation

The State Highway Department has announced that three contracts for the relocation of Highway No. 50 between U.S. 34 and Neb. 1 and for a new spur to Weeping Water have been awarded.

According to L. N. Ress, State Engineer, the contracts amount to $235,430, with the largest single contract totaling $103,647. The large contract went to Francis R. Orshok Co. of Fremont for building three new bridges.

The department at the same time announced that a contract for concrete paving on Highway U.S. 73W east of Oakland and for bituminous surfacing on the spur between Craig and No. 73W has been awarded. The Orshok Co. of Fremont was awarded the work on a bid of $343,231.

On the Highway 50 relocation project, Orshok's bid was $80.75 less than the second low bid and $15,567 beneath the high bid. Stewart Brothers of Lincoln were awarded a $76,682 contract for grading work on the seven miles between U.S. 34 and Neb. 1 and on the 1.8 miles west of Weeping Water. Nine bids were made on the grading.

The Lancaster County contractors' bid was $12,969 less than the second low bid and $103,423 beneath the high bid. Stewart's price for excavation will be 14.2 cents per cubic yard and the job will involve moving some rock. Ress said the average price per cubic yard of excavation on contracts awarded by the Highway Department between October, 1950 and October, 1952 was 19.4 cents per cubic yard.

Denzine Co. of McCook was given a $54,900 contract for culvert work. Ten firms bid on this part of the project. The southwestern Nebraska firm's price was $2,107 under the closest bid and $15,174 less than the high bid.

In the 1952 sufficiency rating, the portions of No. 50 north and south of Weeping Water were rated separately. The portion south of town rated lowest and the portion north of town rated third lowest of all gravel surfaced highways on the Federal-Aid Primary system in Field Division 1.

All of No. 50 between No. 1 and U.S. 34 was rated in the emergency category because of its condition rating. Other factors north and south of Weeping Water which lowered the ratings of the highway are 20 places where the sight distances are too restricted for safety, 12 curves that are too sharp for safety and 13 places with dangerous surprises, such as narrow bridges, steep grades or sway in the cross-section of the roadway.

According to terms of the contract, the bridge work is to be completed within 140 working days after March 15, 1954. The culvert work within 120 working days after April 5, and the grading within 150 working days after May 10.

On the U. S. 73W project, the Orshok bid was $7,477 less than the second low bid and $382,258 beneath the highest bid. The highest bid was $334,103 higher than the contractor who submitted it intended because he bid $17 per gallon for oil when he intended to bid 17 cents per gallon.

The concrete on 73W will be 22 feet wide and eight inches thick. A four-inch granular foundation course will be laid beneath the pavement. Eight foot-wide shoulders will be constructed on each side of the concrete.

Eleven Pro All-Stars Will See Action Sunday

Browns Place 6, Lions Five On Mythical Squad

By FRANK ECK
NEW YORK (AP) — Eleven of the best 22 players in professional football will clash in Briggs Stadium, Detroit, Sunday when the Detroit Lions defend their National League championship against the Cleveland Browns.

At least that's the consensus among 48 Associated Press member paper sports writers and AP staffers who voted for the 11th annual AP All-Pro team announced today.

The Browns placed six men on the two-platoon squad and the Lions five.

Browns voted to the team following the completion of a 12-week season were Quarterback Otto Graham, Center Frank Gatski, Tackle Lou Groza on offense, End Len Ford, Guard Bill Willis and Halfback Tommy Thompson on defense.

Lions named to the mythical squad were Halfback Doak Walker, Guards Lou Creekmur and Dick Stanfel on offense, and Guard Les Bingaman and Safety Jack Christiansen on defense.

Others chosen for the offensive team were Ends Pete Pihos of the Philadelphia Eagles and

Dodgers Take Most Sheckles From Braves

By CHRIS EDMONDS
MILWAUKEE, (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers took more money out of Milwaukee last summer than any other visiting team, but the St. Louis Cardinals were a better gate attraction. "Confusing" Sure, but the payoff is there any way you add it—and it'll be better next year.

The National League champions' dapper traveling secretary, Lee Scott, juggled off $74,378 in his satchel for 10 playing dates with the Milwaukee Braves in county stadium. Visiting teams get 22 1/2 cents on each paid admission and the Dodgers drew 330,570 fans.

So where does that leave the Cardinals? Right at the top. They played before 268,886 fans, but only made eight stadium appearances, averaging 33,611 to Brooklyn's 33,057. In other words, the Cardinals received $1,246.50 more than the Dodgers each time the teams showed in Milwaukee.

Six of the seven visiting teams drew more than 200,000 fans as the Braves cracked the league attendance record in their first year on the shores of Lake Michigan—and two of them attracted more people than watched the entire circuit performance at Boston a year ago.

Cincinnati, with an eight-game total of 180,433, was the lightest club and had the dubious honor of playing to the season's smallest gate—8,720 of a Tuesday afternoon in May. Both Brooklyn, with its 330,570, and the Chicago Cubs with 255,306 for nine dates, topped the 1952 total of 281,327 at Braves Field.

The Cubs, whose Wrigley Field is only 90 miles south of the Braves' new stadium home, drew 37,243 on the night of Aug. 21 for the top single game total. On successive nights early—July 7-8—the Cubs had drawn 37,113 and 37,119, all three totals the best by any team.

Here are the team-by-team attendance figures: Brooklyn, 330,570 (10 dates); Chicago, 255,306 (9); New York, 273,825 (10); St. Louis, 268,886 (8); Philadelphia, 257,119 (9); Pittsburgh, 215,258 (10); and Cincinnati, 180,433 (8).

Braves' officials are confident of shattering their 1,826,397 attendance mark next summer when stadium capacity will be up some 7,000 seats to about 43,000. And what's even better news for the visiting teams is that the ante will go up, too. The league has boosted their share five cents a ticket—to 27 1/2 cents—which puts a $100,000 purse within reach.

Travel Squad For Tourney Is Named

CRETE—The Doane College basketball traveling squad named for the Grand Island "Tourney" Dec. 28-29, lists eight freshmen among the 13-man group.

Coach Art Givens indicates that Lloyd Schulz, one of the first-year men, will be a starter at guard along with Pete Eddy, junior guard, Lloyd Abbott, sophomore center, Doug Dev, and Dean Hilde, forwards, both sophomores.

Doane meets Wayne in the tourney center Monday night at seven. The second game of the evening comes Tuesday and Wednesday. The championship and consolation titles are slated for Tuesday evening.

In addition to the probable starting lineup, the roster lists freshmen Gary Parsons, Don Peters, Steve Chabak, Don Massey, and John Elbert, Norky Jones, and Norman Lacey. Ken Frisch is the only upperclassman besides four of the starters.

Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch of the Los Angeles Rams; Tackle George Connor of the Chicago Bears and Fullback Joe Perry and Halfback Hugh McElhenny of the San Francisco 49ers.

Filling out the defensive unit were Tackles Arnie Weinmeister of the New York Giants and Leo Nomellini of the 49ers; End Andy Robustelli and Linebacker Don Paul of the Rams; Linebacker Charlie (Chuck) Bednarik of the Eagles and Halfback Tom Keane of the Baltimore Colts.

On the basis of the voting, Graham is pro football's No. 1 player. The quarterback standby of the Browns since their inception back in 1946 averaged a fraction more than 10 yards each time he passed the pigskin. Graham, All-America at Northwestern in 1943, completed 167 of 258 passes for 2,722 yards and 11 touchdowns. His completion mark of 84.7 is second only to Sammy Baugh's 1945 record of 70.3. Graham now has made All-Pro five times.

Perry, Negro fullback who led the National Football League's ground gainers, was the second best vote getter. He was named for the All-Pro on 44 ballots. Perry gained 1,018 yards in 192 attempts for a 5.3 average. His total was second to the record 1,146 yards gained in 1949 by the Eagle's Steve Van Buren.

Other top vote getters were Pihos and Ford, each with 40, Weinmeister with 39 and Connor with 38.

Pihos paced the circuit in catching passes (63) and in yards gained (1,049). He scored 10 touchdowns.

Weinmeister has made the All-Pro five times in succession. Connor, 1946 All-Pro, made All-America in 1947 for the fourth straight year. Connor was the only one from Chicago's two-team city to make the team.

Bednarik, like Connor, has made All-Pro four straight years. Besides Graham and Connor, other All-Americas on the All-Pro are Walker (SMU, 1947-48-49), Bednarik (Pennsylvania, 1947-48), Nomellini (Minnesota, 1948) and McElhenny (Washington, 1951).

The Washington Redskins, Green Bay Packers, Pittsburgh Steelers and Chicago Cardinals failed to place men on the squad. However, Green Bay's John Martinkovic was highly regarded in Milwaukee and Chicago but nationally Ford and Robustelli beat out the Packers great defensive end.

Clayton Tonnemaker, Minnesota's 1949 All-America center, received solid support in Milwaukee and was voted on ballots from five other cities but the big Packer linebacker was outpolled by Bednarik and Paul.

Gene Brink and Charlie Justice were Washington's best vote getters while Pittsburgh's Elbie Nickel and Dale Dorrill also were well supported. Charlie Trippi was the Cardinals' star.

Coaches Say Blue, Gray Squads Ready For Game
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Rival coaches pronounced their squads tuned to a fine pitch Thursday for Saturday's 15th annual renewal of the Blue-Gray football contest.

Both the Yankees and Rebels spent their Christmas Eve work-outs polishing up their offense. They were stressing passing just as they have all week.

Only one workout is planned Friday so the visiting all stars can enjoy Christmas.

Odell To New Game

SEATTLE (AP)—Former Washington Football Coach Howie Odell switched to a new game Thursday, filing his candidacy for the Seattle city council.

The former head football man at Washington and Yale, ousted from his Washington berth after the season's close a year ago, said he made the leap into politics "because so many of my friends urged me to do so."

Pirie Gets Offers
LONDON, (AP)—Gordon Pirie, Britain's top distance runner, said he is being "flooded" with scholarship offers by American universities.

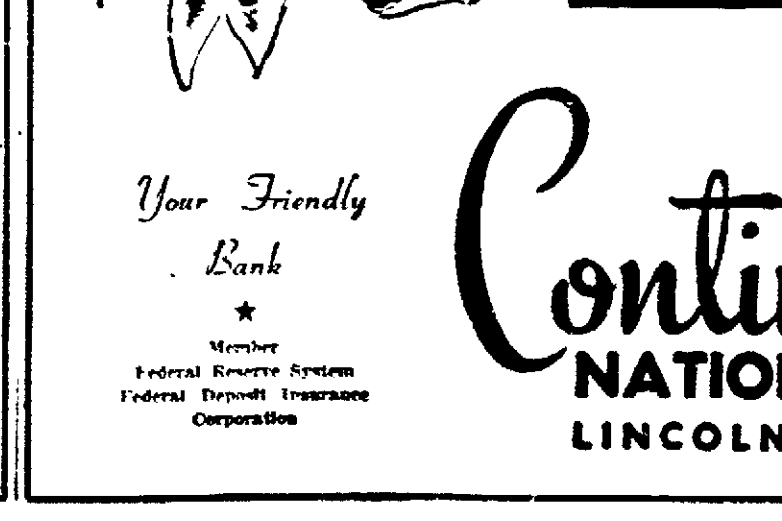

The 22-year-old bank clerk, who is this country's best at 5,000 and 10,000 meters, told a reporter:

"I am flattered and not a little fascinated I would like to make the trip but I cannot decide whether I want to go there and study. I am just thinking it all over."

Does Santa Deal In Tall Centers? Rockets, Via Gibson, Place Order

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member
Dear Santa:

We know it's late to be writing a Christmas letter to you, but for what we have in mind today's as good as tomorrow. It's not as if we were asking for something for ourselves. We want to ask for some gifts for the coaches of Lincoln's five high school basketball teams. We're sure they would appreciate it just as much although it didn't come on Christmas.

First of all, take care of Rex Mercer at College View. He's a new coach there and doing a fine job. He could use some tall boys though. If you have a lanky center handy, why not give him to Rex? And one of College View's mainstays, play maker Paul Westbrook, is under the weather. You could see that he gets well and plays more ball for Mercer and College View.

Ed Johnson at Northeast could do with one of those tall boys too, Santa. You've always been good to Northeast in the past. This year the Rockets are inexperienced, and face a rough schedule. They have lost three straight and could use a win against Norfolk Dec. 30.

Vince Aldrich at Cathedral seems pretty well fixed, Santa, even though he started the season with only two lettermen. But a long, tough schedule is ahead for the Bluebirds, with only four games to be played at home. Cathedral needs a decent place to play and practice basketball. That's a big order. But Vince would like to keep the State Catholic championship he won last year, and you might help him out there. Just keep guys like Bill Frappa, Darving Jennings, Larry Trine, Fred Schneider and Allen Parks hale, hearty and hitting the basket, Santa. That will be enough.

You did pretty well by Dale Snook at Teachers last year, and he still has a little left over. The Tutors seem to be well off with their two big guys—Jim Thom and Hal Rowe—going at full efficiency. Just one thing, Mr. Claus: don't let the Tutors build up to a big letdown in the district tournament, which is what happened last year. We wouldn't want to wish a loss on Dale and the Tutors but if it takes the pressure off it might be a good thing.

Doing something for Lyle Weyand at Lincoln High might be a problem. S.C. The Links have everything, they say—height, speed, rebounding ability and scoring ability. You shouldn't have to worry about overconfidence, for the Links

Top Teams In Tourney

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Sugar Bowl basketball tournament next week will have three teams ranked in the top 20 in the most recent Associated Press poll: Fordham, Holy Cross and Louisiana State, and ever-dangerous DePaul competing for the title.

Holy Cross, rated 10th nationally, and DePaul open the tourney action next Tuesday with defending champion LSU, rated 14th, and seventh ranked Fordham meeting in the second game.

Ticket Sales To Start

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Over-the-counter sale of tickets for the 38th annual 500-mile auto race will start next Monday, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway announced Thursday.

Because Memorial Day falls on Sunday next year, the race will be run on Monday, May 31.

Battle Creek To Go Against Battle Creek

Lincoln Star Special
BATTLE CREEK, Neb.—It will be Battle Creek on Wednesday, Dec. 30, at Battle Creek, Neb. The basketball team from Battle Creek, Ia., will play its Nebraska counterpart on the Nebraska court on that evening.

A great deal of interest is being generated by this contest. The entire Battle Creek community—Battle Creek, Neb., that is—getting into the act. The mothers of the players are planning a big feed for the boys of both teams after the game is over. Then the Battle Creek, Ia., lagers will go home with the boys they have just played and stay all night with them.

A delegation of Pep Club members from the Iowa city will come to the game, they will be entertained by the Nebraska Pep Club girls in their homes that night. The Iowa delegation will return to Battle Creek, Ia., on Dec. 31.

The game will be a test between two towns of approximately the same size and between schools of about the same enrollment. Fans in this area are welcoming the opportunity to see how Iowa basketball compares to that played on the Nebraska side of the Missouri River.

The cagers from Iowa have played ten games, winning eight and dropping two. The Braves of Battle Creek, Neb., have played five games, winning three and dropping two. The Nebraskans have defeated Oakdale, Madison, and Neight; they lost to St. Francis of Humphrey and Newman Grove, both by slim margins.

A return game will be played on the Iowans court next year during Christmas vacation.

Dixie Classic To Begin On Monday

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The 10th annual Dixie Classic, matching North Carolina's basketball "four" against Oregon State, Navy Seton Hall and Tulane, opens Monday with the first of the four-game programs.

Host team North Carolina State on whose spacious court the games will be played, has won all four previous classics. Wolfpack, ranked No. 9 in the week's Associated Press poll, opens its bid for another new championship by meeting Seton Hall at 4 p.m. EST Monday. The tourney opener at 2 p.m. matches Navy and North Carolina.

Monday night games send Oregon State, No. 12 in the nation, against Duke at 7:30 and Tulane against Wake Forest at 9:30.

The second day's program matches winners against winners and losers against losers. The pattern will be continued through the finals Wednesday night.

Oregon State, conqueror of Tulane, rated No. 1 in the nation earlier in the week, looms as formidable challenger to North Carolina State's continued dominance of the event.

Cautious French Hope For Upswing

PARIS (AP) Jolted by a new wave of no-able thought, Frenchmen are cautiously optimistic about the future of their country. They are hopeful that the French will be able to overcome the economic difficulties of the post-war period and that the French will be able to return to the normalcy of the pre-war period. New Trial In Fee Case Is Asked

The Nebraska attorney general has filed a motion for a new trial in Lancaster District Court protesting the decision awarding $60,000 attorney's fees in the Ebke case involving state school lands.

The State's motion alleges the judgment and degree handed down by district Judge Emerson Kokjer of Wahoo was contrary to law and not sustained by sufficient evidence.

It also contends court error in the holding that the school lands trust funds are subject to payment of expenses and attorney's fees and in the finding the benefits ($4 1/2 million) which accrued to the trust fund through sale of school land leases at public auction were a direct result of the litigation conducted.

Judge Kokjer awarded attorney's fees to Paul White of Lincoln, who before becoming a district judge had been the attorney for Fred Ebke, Deuel County relocator, in his 'ex rel' suit against the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds and others.

The case, which reached the Supreme Court, went through some 28 months of litigation.

A second petition, also filed by the attorney general and amending the original motion for new trial, alleges "The amount of attorney's fees allowed by the court is grossly excessive."

Moot Court Win 'Wonderful Thrill' Despite Drawbacks, Miss Knoll Says

OMAHA (AP)—Winning last week's National Moot Court competition in New York had its drawbacks, a member of the University of Nebraska Law School team admitted Thursday.

"So long as we kept winning," said Miss Eleanor Knoll of Omaha, "we didn't have a single minute to do any shopping."

Despite the drawbacks, Miss Knoll admitted the victory was a "wonderful thrill."

Miss Knoll, William Grant of Columbus and Ronald Hunter of Lincoln won out in the legal arguments, beating Georgetown University in the finals.

Among the large number of men students who took part from 70 teams in the competition, "I was pretty conspicuous," she said. "Only one other woman student entered the competition."

Miss Knoll said she and her

Walker will be superintendent of the International Great Northern Division there, effective Jan. 1.

T. E. Fox, an executive assistant to President Paul J. Neff at St. Louis, will succeed Walker here.

Feasts, Games On Yule Program Of 22 Commies

PANMUNJOM, Friday (AP) — Twenty-two American soldiers who embraced Communism while war prisoners observe Christmas with feasts and games today in the little barbed-wire village of Songjong in the Korean buffer zone.

It will be the fourth Christmas in prison for 14 of the men and the third for the others.

Their village feasts were decorated with bright paper, hunting and a big Christmas meal was due at noon, an Indian spokesman said. They had no tree.

The Americans passed up an easy opportunity to return to the United Nations command yesterday, in time for Christmas. As they were transferred from a holding compound to the Songjong village camp, they fled past Indian guards on the way.

A few words—"I want to be repatriated"—would have spelled home but none of the Americans stepped out of line.

An Indian spokesman said the transfer was accomplished without incident.

In another camp under Indian custody the 22,219 Chinese and North Koreans who repatriated Communism also got some special treatment today for Christmas although only a handful of them are Christians. The Chinese will be given delicacies flown to them from Formosa. President Chiang Kai-shek's stronghold where most of the prisoners have asked to go when they are released as civilians next Jan. 22.

Popping radio, in a broadcast heard in Tokyo, said 15 South Korean prisoners who refused to attend the final explanation sessions accused the U. N. command of "complete lack of sincerity." They denounced a "canine" Allied statement that the prisoners had been prevented from returning home "by a small group of bad eggs." Their complaint was presented by a group of three to the neutral

Miss Williams Named To NICF Post

Leona Williams, secretary in charge of the Chancellor of the Nebraska Wesleyan University, has been named to the NICF post.

The NICF, Inc., was formed by even Nebraska independent colleges last summer for the purpose of soliciting funds from corporations, foundations and other sources to be divided on a formula for general operating expenses.

She joined the Wesleyan staff during the final year of Dr. Benjamin F. Schwartz, a distinguished educator, served under Dr. John L. Knight during his three-year stay, and has remained since the men received mail.

Most of the men have been in prison of war camp for three years. The veteran among them, Pvt. Lowell O. Samson, 22, has spent 38 months in captivity.

Polio Patient's No. 1 Gift-Trip Home

By MARILYN K. SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

Christmas Day will be a more special day than usual for a 19-year-old polio patient at Orthopedic Hospital.

Ruby Heine will spend her first Christmas at home since she was stricken with polio four years ago.

"My brother from California is going to drive me up to Omaha in the morning and I'll return in the evening. I'm going to stay as long as possible so they'd better leave the porch light here on for me," Ruby laughed.

Ruby's mother is Mrs. Ada Heine of Omaha.

Active Life

Completely paralyzed with the exception of her head, Ruby leads an active life at the hospital nevertheless.

She contracted polio on Sept. 3, 1949, when she was a sophomore in high school. Through correspondence courses, she now ranks as a junior and is taking her senior English course at the present time.

Her major hobby is textile painting—an odd hobby for a paralytic. But Ruby paints with her brush attached to a strap on her forehead. Most of the items she paints are sold as soon as she completes them.

Ruby's method of painting has been used by other polio patients but this is the first time it has been used at Orthopedic.

Although Ruby has tried to paint with mediums other than cloth and textile paints, she finds her "head is too heavy" to wield the brush for the longer time required to paint a larger picture.

Iron Lung

Ruby can breathe without mechanical aid for four hours each day. At other times she wears a portable chest respirator and sleeps in an iron lung.

She was a patient at Children's Memorial Hospital in Omaha for two years and has been a patient here since December, 1950.

He was employed in the shoe repair department at Miller & Paine for 25 years, retiring in 1945.

Surviving are his wife, Amelia; sons, Gus and Paul, both of Lincoln; Harry E. of Chicago; Victor C. of Los Angeles; and Allen W. of Dallas; daughters, Mrs. Inez Leback and Mrs. Ruth Beetz, both of Lincoln; and Mrs. Catherine Fuss of Los Angeles; brothers, George and David of Lincoln, and 13 grandchildren.

Compromise Gas Rate Increase Is Reached

Following another meeting with officials of the Central Electric and Gas Co., the City Council's power committee has arrived at an approximate 14.75 percent increase in retail firm gas rates.

The rate the committee will recommend to the City Council Monday is 1.25 per cent below that requested originally by the company. The new rate ordinance is expected to be given emergency passage Monday to make it effective Tuesday.

The Council committee cut approximately .50 per cent from the requested 8.50 per cent return requested by the company on its investment. The company had requested a total increase of $657,928, including interruptible rates which have already been increased, and the committee will recommend a $610,972 increase.

Firm Rates

On firm rates alone, those which apply to residential customers supplied on a non-interruptible basis, the company had asked for a $484,411 increase but will get only $475,788. After submitting its first figures, the company submitted an alternate proposal which called for a $521,252 increase in firm gas rates.

According to company Attorney Lloyd Marlin, would just cover a $509,692 increase to Central in wholesale rates and a $11,570 increase in occupation taxes paid to the city.

The Gas Company also announced two new developments. They stated first that the Federal Power Commission had set the date of Jan. 18 for a hearing in connection with Northern Natural Gas Co.'s request for a fourth increase in wholesale gas rates.

Additional Sales

Secondly, the FPC has authorized the sales by Northern which will mean an increase of nearly 5 million cubic feet of gas per day for Central. This, said company officials, will mean the opening up of new areas in Lincoln for gas service.

Man Kills 3 Of His Family, Then Himself

MASSILLON, O. (AP)—A paroled murderer killed his wife, her father, and his brother-in-law and then shot himself in an apartment at nearby Navarre.

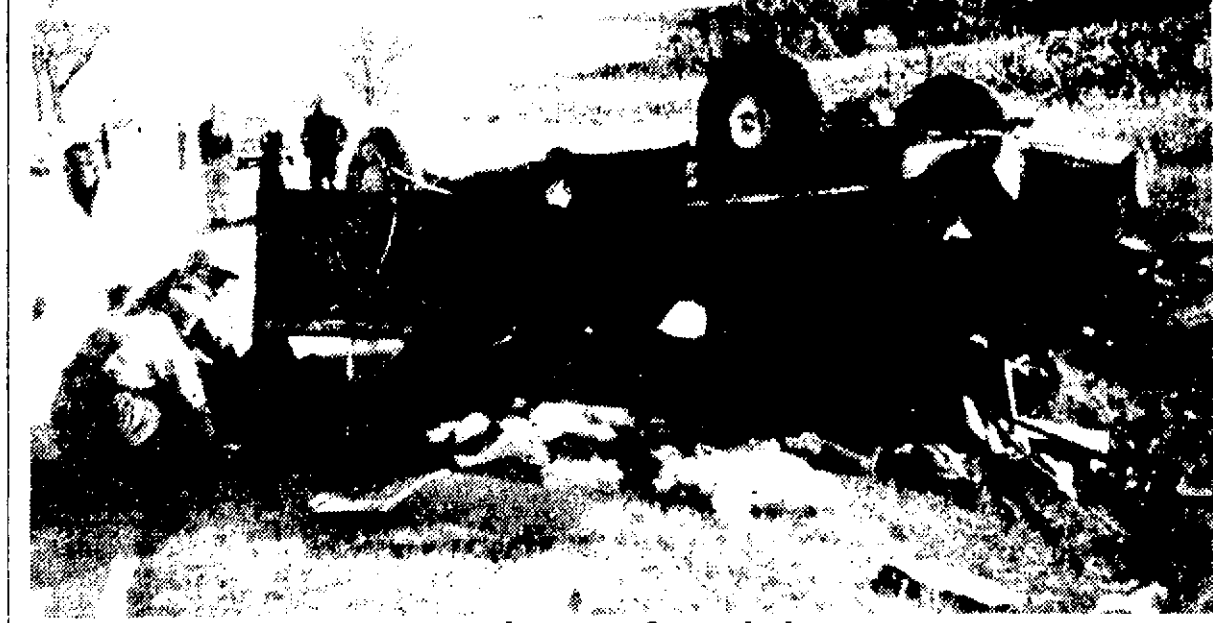

Deputy Sheriff Howard Imboden identified the slayer as Orvis Burdett, 39, who was paroled three years ago after serving 13 years of a life term for slaying a man in death in a Huntington, W. Va. Hotel in 1936.

Imboden listed the other dead as Burdett's wife, Gwendolene, 26; her father, Columbus Cochran, 49; and Delbert Gwinn, 33. Gwinn, husband of Cochran's daughter, Christina, 20, died at City Hospital here about two hours after the shooting. The others all were dead when police first got to the apartment.

Three infants who were in the bedroom into which Burdett herded his relatives for the slaying were unhurt.

Deputy Imboden said Christina Gwinn told him the family had not seen Burdett for four months before Thursday night, but feared him so much that her father had bought a pistol for protection a few weeks ago. Cochran was running for the pistol when he was shot down.

The deputy said statements by Christina and her mother, Mrs. Pinkie Cochran, said Burdett had been jailed at Charleston, W. Va., for the past four months as a parole violator.

BOMBER'S CREW DEAD

LONDON (AP)—A helicopter rescue team landed beside the wreckage of an American Navy bomber on Myrdalsjokull Glacier in southeastern Iceland Thursday and its radio report indicated all nine of the bomber crewmen were dead.

The U. S. Air Force here said the helicopter crew messaged it found one body but no others were to be seen.

Air Force officers said the other eight men probably were buried in eight feet of ice-crustured snow coating the bleak, mile-high glacier where the patrol bomber crashed in a blizzard seven days ago.

Blizzards and Gales

The Air Force's 53rd Air Rescue Squadron in Iceland succeeded in landing a rescue crew by helicopter on Christmas Eve after seven days of dramatic effort to reach the icy wilderness by air and land through almost continuous blizzards and gales.

Hope had been abandoned that any of the nine men were alive

Kuykendall Trial Stops For Holiday

OMAHA (AP)—The district court jury in the marathon trial of Joseph Kuykendall began a four day Christmas holiday Thursday.

Judge Carroll O. Stauffer's decision not to hold court the day before Christmas was largely a concession to the nine women of the jury, eight of them housewives. Stauffer said they should have the full day to make preparations for the holiday.

Since this was the fourth week of the trial jurors have had little enough time even for Christmas shopping. Stauffer said one of the attorneys had complained he was spending so much time in court and in preparation of the case he had hardly seen his visiting grandchildren.

Kuykendall, 34, who is charged in his wife's death here last June 18, will not be alone for the holiday. His mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kuykendall of Phoenix, Ariz., and a brother have been here since the trial started.

The trial will go into its fifth week next Monday.

Sidney J. Gottneid, clerk of the District Court, whose association with the case goes back to 1915, says that this already is the longest criminal case he can recall here.

White Christmas Made For Boy With Cancer

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS)—Keith Collins is going to have a white Christmas—the only boy in Portland to have such a surprise.

The 5-year-old lad, stricken with triple cancer, sat in his mother's lap Thursday and watched with eyes as big as saucers, Collins and other cancer workers of the Consolidated Freightways piled up snow outside his window in North Portland.

All 22,000 pounds of the snow was scooped from a trailer which had been loaded high in the Casagades at Crescent, Ore., and hauled to Portland.

Is This Drumstick For Me?

A Korean youngster can't seem to believe his eyes as he receives a man-sized drumstick from Cpl. Joseph (Gill) of Cleveland, O., at the Medical Company, 32nd Infantry Regiment. The boy is one of more than 7,300 Korean children who were fed and given warm clothing during Christmas. (U.S. Army Photo via AP Wirephoto Thursday Night)

Brownell Sees Prosecutions From White Case

WASHINGTON (INS) — Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. predicted Thursday that "investigations growing out of the Harry Dexter White case" probably will bring court prosecutions in 1954.

But the attorney general warned in an interview that his forecast can stand up only if Congress approves his two key anti-subversive laws.

Brownell said that intensive investigations centering around the White case "involve espionage and subversion under the Roosevelt and Truman administrations."

The attorney general stirred a national controversy when he charged that ex-President Truman promoted White to an international Monetary Fund post in the face of two adverse FBI reports.

Brownell declared Thursday that if his charges encourage Congress to pass his legislative program the incident "will be a great victory over the subversive elements."

The proposed laws would allow use of wiretap evidence in federal court cases involving national security, and permit immunity to congressional witnesses who duck behind the Fifth Amendment.

The attorney general gave his views on the importance of the White case to a reporter who asked him to sum up the accomplishments of his first year in office. He replied:

"I think the White case is the biggest thing in the subversive field."

"I believed the case restored the confidence of the American people in the Department of Justice. They now feel they will be told the truth about what was done to them under prior administrations."

"People now believe that they will get the facts about what is going on in government. They will realize that the Department of Justice is working for them, and not just as a cover-up agency."

Brownell said that his charges should help gain passage of his legislative proposals because they also served to increase the demand for modern methods of dealing with subversives."

The attorney general repeated his previous declarations that his charges were in line with a program to open up more information to the public which already has resulted in open files on tax settlements and presidential pardons.

The cabinet member said that he considers 1953 "a very worthwhile year in the fight against Communism because of the White case. Smith Act prosecutions of Communists, stepped-up action by the subversive activities control board, Red deportations and the like."

Turning to other fields, Brownell noted that corruption also is a major national issue, and said his department is working on a "number of cases" in this category.

John W. Campbell Dies At Age Of 87

John W. Campbell, 87, 5110 Walker, former operator of the dining hall at Nebraska Wesleyan University, died Thursday.

Mr. Campbell had lived near Adams, Neb., nearly 60 years, coming to Lincoln when he retired from farming 26 years ago.

He was a member of First Methodist Church.

Surviving are his sons, O. M. and G. R., both of Omaha; daughters, Elvessa of Lincoln and Mrs. Vera Hutchison of Scottsbluff; a brother, George B. of Ashland, Ore.; 10 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Postal Men Promoted

OMAHA (AP) — Rep. Roman Hruska (R-Neb.) announced Wednesday he had received word from John C. Allen of Washington, assistant postmaster in charge of transportation, of the promotions of three men in the postal transportation service in Omaha.

Elmer Surber was promoted to assistant general superintendent; Le Roy Clark to District No. 2 superintendent, and Edwin S. Byrd to administrative assistant of the personal section.

The promotions are effective immediately, Hruska said.

$11,415.11 Paid To Box Butte On Mrs. Long's Bond

State Auditor Ray Johnson was informed Thursday that the Fidelity and Deposit Co. of Maryland has paid Box Butte County $11,415.11 to discharge its liability under the official bond of Mrs. Eunice Long, former county treasurer.

Johnson said the bonding company paid the full amount established by examiners from his office as the shortage in Mrs. Long's accounts.

A representative of the state auditor's office will visit Alliance soon to apportion the money to the various taxing bodies.

Mrs. Long was sentenced to two to five years in the Women's Reformatory in connection with the shortage, Johnson said.
